

Agatha's Appeal

Agatha's Appeal 2009 aims to raise £25,000 for the Neonatal Unit (NNU) at St. George's Hospital, London.

82,000 babies in the UK are born prematurely or sick every year - 25% of those need intensive care, often for weeks or months. The care received immediately after birth has a profound impact on their chances of survival and future quality of life. Agatha Holloway is the reality behind those statistics.

When she was born almost 3 months early she took the last available incubator in the unit & would not have survived the night without it.

We challenge you to help raise £25,000 to buy an incubator for the hospital that saved Agatha's life & give other babies a fighting chance.

Be creative:

- What do you already enjoy doing that could raise money?
- Is there anything you have always wanted to challenge yourself to do that people could raise money?
- Could you hold a fund-raising event?
- Who could support the Appeal by doing any of the above or sponsoring any of the events being held?

If you need any further reason to take part, then please, read Agatha's story...

For more information on Agatha's Appeal contact Samantha Holloway on 07968 464 234 or samanthaholloway@hotmail.co.uk.

Should you wish to donate please go to www.justgiving.com/samanthaholloway
All donations will go to Friends Of St George's NNU.